

Bitterroot Public Library Grounds Policy; approved August 17, 2022; re-approved May 20, 2026

No camping is allowed on Library property at any time. Camping is defined as the use of an area for temporary residence or sleeping purposes, which includes storing personal property, leaving unattended personal property, erecting any structures, attaching any rope, cable or other wire to a tree or a Library structure, using the Library building and/or gazebo for overnight shelter, or occupying any area in a way that inhibits the use of Library property by others for an excessive period of time as determined by the Library Director or the Director's designee.
